

Rearranging Product Lines Through Licensing In A Vertically Differentiated Product Framework

Ting-Fang Chiang and Hsiao-Yun Teng†

This paper is to analyze a multiproduct firm's usage of licensing to rearrange the market configuration. Two mechanisms, the creation or transfer of the connected monopoly power and the cost manipulation by means of royalty, triggered by licensing enable the licensor to reduce the market competition and raise the industry profit.